

Introduction to LIGHTROOM

Workshop by Rob Davidson

If you're relatively new to Adobe Lightroom, and want to be sure that you're getting it right, this is the workshop for you! We'll cover all the basics of the amazing Lightroom workflow, from importing and organizing your photographs, through developing and outputting your files. Most importantly, you'll gain an understanding of exactly how Lightroom works and what it can do to streamline your workflow.

Topics Covered:

- How Lightroom really works, and how it differs from Photoshop
- Importing, filing and organizing your photos to suit your personal workflow
- Rating and Keywording your photos so you can find them easily
- Back-up strategies to secure your photography collection
- A methodical and complete approach to the Develop Panels to optimise your photographs
- Using virtual copies to develop multiple variations of your photographs
- Introduction to the Local Adjustment tools
- How Snapshots and History allow you to track your development of an image
- Creating Slideshows to present your work
- Setting up the the Print Module to make beautiful prints directly from Lightroom
- Colour Management in Lightroom
- Using the Web Module to present your work online
- Exporting your photographs for use on the web, or for clients

As you can see, we'll be covering quite a lot of information, so you'll also receive a complete set of notes to refer to as you explore Lightroom on your own.
