Makeup Workshop for Photographers

Dates: Friday May 7, 2010 - 6:30pm to 10:00pm
Friday June 4, 2010 - 6:30pm to 10:00pm

Location: 19 Atlantic Avenue, Toronto, Ontario M6K 3E7

Hi, I am a professional makeup artist and I'm teaching a makeup workshop for photographers. The first part of the workshop teaches some great ways a photographer can work with a makeup artist, ease communication and prevent many common mistakes. Some key, yet basic terminology is also included. I'll also be doing a full make-up demo with a model, and Rob Davidson will be shooting before and after photos.

The second part of the workshop gives you some great tips on what items you should have in your kit for those times when a makeup artist is not available, or there is no budget. You'll learn how to take care of some common issues yourself in a few minutes (rather than trying to fix them later in Photoshop). I guarantee I will save YOU hours on photoshop, and help you develop great relationships not only with a makeup artist, but with clients as well so that every shoot will be smooth, professional yet fun.

The workshop cost is $100 – nothing compared to the time you save and the knowledge provided. This workshop is currently being offered on two dates, and should not be missed!

The workshop will be held in Rob Davidson's Studio, in Liberty Village (King & Dufferin), Downtown Toronto
